PHOENIX, Dec. 10, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Troxell, a national leader in education technology and collaboration solutions for more than 60 years, is proud to announce it has been awarded Iowa's AEA Purchasing Consortium RFP #ITD2018AEAPURCH for Interactive Touch Screen Displays, in partnership with Boxlight and its ProColor 65-inch and 75-inch panels.

Effective January 1-December 31, 2019, Troxell offers tiered pricing on the contract for both Boxlight's ProColor652U and ProColor752U.

Rated in three categories of criteria: preferred specifications, software specifications, and training and support services, the ProColor panels both received 95 out of 100 points, beating all products submitted by other vendors.

AEA Purchasing is an independent, tax-exempt, nonprofit institution supporting the mission of the Iowa Area Education Agencies. The Consortium's primary function is to provide a voluntary purchasing program for K-12 schools by bringing all statewide school purchasing programs under one legal entity and one fiscal management group. AEA Purchasing allows members to take advantage of aggressive pricing based on the purchasing volume of many Iowa clients. Iowa AEA's serve both public and private K-12 public school districts representing over 514,000 students.

"It is extremely gratifying to be selected as a preferred provider in Iowa," said Mike Ruprich, Troxell's CEO. "We look forward to transforming their classrooms with these innovative technology offerings from Boxlight."
